Response to Amendment

This action is in response to the request for reconsideration filed on 12/19/05.

Examiner has withdrawn 35 USC 101 rejection on claims 1-18 upon clarification filled by the applicant.

As per applicant request claims 1-18 has been considered but they are not persuasive.

Claims 1-18 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Notani et al USPN 6,442,528.

In the remarks applicant argues,

I) "Business to business interaction standard".

II) "Converting the business to business interaction standard to a structured representation".

III) "Automatically generating at least one process template based on the structured representation of B2B interaction standard".

In response to applicant's arguments,

I) It was noted that the cited reference teaches business-to-business interaction standard.

Reference mentioned that workflow is disclosed in the design and deployment in a enterprise level and collaborating within the organization and multiple entries in multi domain environment which means that interaction and collaboration in and with business to business (column 3, lines 39-52). Therefore, limitations are met by the reference.

II) It was also noted that reference also teaches converting the business to business interaction standard to a structured representation by using web enterprise and distributing the activities over the nodes in the node group to achieve multi enterprise collaboration (column 12, lines 56-67).

Thus, limitations are met by the reference.

III) It was noted that cited reference also suggest that global collaboration designer provides a tool to automatically generate a process template based on the structured representation of B2B interaction standard and also provide verification of collaboration and automatic code generation and allow more to be created as new version (column 6, lines 8-32 and lines 40-46). Therefore, limitations are met by the reference.
